Mission Women Hacked to Death by Chinese Servants Last Week Were Related in Murray

(Commercial Appeal, March 19.) PEIYING, China, March 18.—Two American women, members of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission at Yunnan, Pei, Yuan Province, were hacked to death as they slept, it has been learned here.

The victims are Mrs. Vera Moser, wife of Battle Ground, and Mrs. Victoria Marian Miller of Spokane, Wash. Lawless has been a life in this province since the governor fled recently, leaving four generals to try to form a government.

At first it was believed that the murders were committed by Communists, but Harry E. Stevens, American consul, who made an investigation at the scene, reports that Mrs. White and Mrs. Miller were slain by hatchets in the hands of servants, who had been discharged for stealing. Mrs. White was killed almost instantly and Mrs. Miller died soon afterward. Their husbands were away.

Two Captives Held Communist bandits are steadily gaining headway in Honan Province. They have cut the Peiping-Hankow railroad in the territory.

Yunnan is an inland province in the far southern section of China little traveled and sparsely populated. Few foreigners live there. It is virtually autonomous, although nominally adhering to the central government at Nanking.

SHANGHAI, March 18.—Mrs. Vera Moser, wife of Battle Ground, and Mrs. Victoria Marian Miller, American missionaries slain at Yunnan, came to China with their husbands in 1926, and were at Nanking during the uprising of 1927 in which undisciplined soldiers beset a house occupied by Americans and were driven off only after two United States destroyers opened fire in defense of the foreigners.

Local headquarters of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission received a telegram today saying Mrs. White and Mrs. Miller were murdered during the night of March 15.

Mr. Miller and Mr. White and the latter's two children are at present in Yunnan.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The two American women slain in Yunnan, China, and their husbands were the only foreign mission workers in that city, the capital of Yunnan Province.

The Rev. C. B. Miller, husband of one of the women, is secretary of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission there. The Rev. D. R. White, husband of the other, is secretary-treasurer.

The general conference office here of the Adventist Church said Mrs. White was a surgical nurse and once served as dietician of the church's sanitarium near St. Helena, Calif. Her father, Frank Moser, lives at Battle Ground, Wash.

Mrs. Miller was the daughter of the Rev. R. H. Martin of Spokane, Wash. They formerly lived in New Jersey.

The husband of one of the slain women is a brother-in-law to Mark constipation

"I HAD a stubborn case of constipation after a very severe spell of grip," says Mr. John B. Hutchison of Neosho, Mo. "When I would get constipated, I'd feel so sleepy, tired and worn-out. "When one feels this way, work is much harder to do, especially farm work. I would have dizzy headaches when I could hardly see to work, but after I read of Black-Draught, I began taking it. I did not have the headache any more. "When I have the sluggish, tired feeling, I take a few doses of Black-Draught, and it seems to carry off the poison and I feel just fine. I use Black-Draught at regular intervals. It is easy to take and I know it helps me." This medicine is composed of pure botanical roots and herbs.

The plot of the play centers around the Roberts family who have lived in poverty much of their lives and then suddenly become rich through the manufacture of mouse traps.

The cast includes the following: Patsy Jones, who plays the part of Alice Roberts, the social climber; Ethel Cochrum, as the old maid daughter very much in love with love; Theora Blalock, as Cherry Roberts, the social climber; Anna Mary Ridd, in the role of Adele Roberts, the Roberts' partner in the mouse trap business; Eula Lee Rogers, as Lucette, the French maid; J. W. Williams, as the some what benighted husband of Mrs. Roberts; Eugene Rogers, as Larry Roberts, the son who rather longs for the Lynn Allen days and his

FORD SAFETY

Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield has saved many lives in collisions

EVERY new Ford is equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof windshield. This is made so that the glass will not fly or splinter under the hardest impact. It has saved many lives and prevented injuries in many automobile collisions.

This shatter-proof glass windshield is just one of many features that make the new Ford a value far above the price. Others are the silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, sturdy steel body construction, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, extensive use of fine steel forgings, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, Rustless Steel, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

In addition, you save many dollars because of low first cost of the new Ford, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

is not nearly so important as the manner in which it is refined!

"IT'S NOT WHERE YOU COME FROM—BUT WHAT YOU CAN DO!"

CRUDE OIL is not an automobile lubricant. It is converted into motor oil by a refining process which removes the wax and extracts the gasoline, kerosene and lighter fuels.

The lubricating value of a motor oil depends upon the method of refining and the care used in the refining process, rather than the source from which the crude is secured.

The best quality crude oil, regardless of its source, is selected for the refining of "STANDARD" Motor Oil. Then comes the refining process, based on our 50 years' experience in the manufacture of petroleum products. The result is "STANDARD" Motor Oil that year after year leads all other motor oils in sales in the territory in which it is sold.

A Good Neighbor

Almost a thousand miles away as the crow flies, the farmers of Monroe county, New York, have proved themselves good neighbors to their brothers in Calloway county.

The spontaneous generosity with which these good people have given the fruit of their labors to feed needy persons whom they have never seen and never will see touches all of us deeply and brings forth in an overflowing the sincerest gratitude of which the human heart is capable.

Such material kindness is characteristic of the great soul of the American people and so long as such charitable spirit exists they cannot be much cause for alarm over the future of our country.

Often one hears much talk over the wrangling in our National Congress between representatives of peoples with varying and differing problems, social, economic and racial; yet if one will only view our country as a whole it is really remarkable that a nation with such great variety of peoples so nearly achieves homogeneity.

In Europe, where the provinces are not much larger than counties in Kentucky, one finds a different dialect in each. Especially in France, one from the northern part finds great difficulty in even understanding his countryman in the south. Each political division has its own paper money and one finds that it is unacceptable or taken only at great discount in the next state. And French blood is of much purer strain than the lifeblood which flows in the veins of us of the melting pot.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Great Lakes to the Rio Grande, Americans speak the same language with modifications so slight that it is never misunderstood. There is variety, of course, in manner, customs and modes of living, but not near so much as one would ordinarily expect from the great differences in climate, geography and economic factors.

Practically all prejudices of mankind have their birth in want of understanding, lack of knowledge and strangeness. There's the story told of the two English cockneys who saw an unknown person going down the street and one remarked, "E's a stranger; throw 'arf brick at 'em."

The good people of Monroe

County, New York, have proved themselves possessed of hearts of true gold; they have done something practical and helpful for strangers without hope of repayment except "Charity ever finds in the act reward, and needs no trumpet in the receiver."

We do not know these people but Horace Mann tells us of them when he said, "To pity distress is but human; to relieve it is God-like."

Sowing Dragons' Teeth

(Editorial in Lancaster Central-Record)

With the Republican organization broken into irreconcilable factions, and the leadership of Mr. Hoover unheeded, panic-stricken people of the whole country are looking to the Democratic Party for relief and are awaiting anxiously for November 1932 to replace Republican control of the last ten years with Democratic leadership. Nothing can head this change save leading down the Democratic Party with superficial and unnecessary controversial issues.

Whether one visualizes correctly the Eighteenth Amendment permanently in the Constitution or not, controversy over prohibition will go on unsettled. Even if the proposed amendment is suggested by Mr. Raskob and Governor Smith was by Congress submitted to a vote of the states for their ratification, it only makes the controversy more violent, and after that agitation and assuming the adoption, the controversy grows more violent as it is taken up by each state wishing a riot-out for liquor or no liquor, and thus on and on the contest continues.

We do not presume to express an opinion as to the percent of the vote affiliated with the Democratic Party or even with the Republican Party who are wet or dry, but whether there is a difference in the percentage in the two parties on the question. We do know, however, to make the Democratic Party to sponsor either repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment or to declare for a program setting in motion the forces to bring about will disturb the harmony and materially lessen our prospects for victory in 1932. Or to make it a party to prevent a submission for modification would be equally disturbing.

There are so many other vital and pressing issues at this time which are entertaining the public mind and the country is pathetically and loudly calling for adjustment upon which our Party may go to battle that it is folly to think of making the prohibition question the prominent or paramount issue and which, if done, will endanger the success at the polls and prevent giving relief to the country for which it is looking to our Party. Tariff, power control, farm relief, equitable distribution of the nation's income so that the production of the nation may be consumed by a needy public, economy and lower taxes, monopoly control and many other pressing issues will be lost in the midst and confusion of the never-ending controversy over prohibition.

It is not pussy-footing, side-stepping or cowardly to make a declaration in favor of, or for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, nor a violation of the much flaunted principle of states' rights, but a necessary political expediency to refuse to make it a part of the Party program but just simply plain common sense to go to battle for a settlement of those vital issues upon which all Democrats agree and decline a declaration upon the single issue for the sake of discussion, it being admitted the Party is equally divided. As to states rights and local self-government, it may be contended that it is more in accord with Democratic principles, since any amendment to the Constitution must originate through a vote of Congress, to leave it to the Democratic sections who favor the submitting of a new amendment to send representatives to the lower and upper house who articulate all other Democratic policies and are wet, and from dry section representatives who are dry. The Republican Party will in all probability adopt this policy, and when the representatives of both parties differing on the issues that divide the parties, and agreeing upon the

JUST JOTS

By Joe

The neighborhood cynic thinks those states which lose congressmen under the re-apportionment law are the losers.

Most folks' idea of newspaper co-operation is that when you buy a dollar ad the newspaper gives you $25 worth of free advertising in the news columns.

Instead of worrying about re-appointments in them, most stockholders are dejected to death that their companies are paying any dividend at all.

Hoyle Moore of the Fulton Daily Leader, got $125 for a story from the American Boy. We have two American boys at our house and don't get a thing in the world but a reprimand from the better half for the stories we tell 'em.

Henry Ford says that "as a nation we are wiser than we are," certainly gives the lie to the corollary that the "whole cannot be better than the parts."

"The Woman's Page"—for the increased gross sales and net profits of the cigarette companies.

It appears to us that the Depression has done much more to kill race-track gambling in Kentucky than all the efforts of the reformers.

"What Is a Woman's Time Worth?" is the heading of an advertisement of the Kentucky Utilities Company. Off-hand, we'd say it depended on whether she was playing bridge or raising her children.

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast"—and if you don't believe it, just watch your neighbor planting his garden again this spring.

Ledger & Times' editorials are rotten, we'll agree, but at least they're not "canned" or syndicated stuff.

Wisdom of a new amendment is suggested by Mr. Raskob, the wets may have their day. But to inject the prohibition question into a Democratic program, or attempt to do so, is sowing dragons' teeth which will harass and divide our Party, hinder its progressive program and defeat the Party at the Polls.

Do you buy insurance this way?

Do you buy insurance on the strength of friendship—by the "glad hand" method?

There is no reason why your insurance agent should not be your friend—and a mighty good friend, but such friendship should be fostered by sound business relations and not traded upon as the sole excuse of getting your insurance.

The qualified agent has a definite tangible commodity to sell in the form of service. It consists of his technical knowledge and experience applied to the problem of keeping your business protected against loss—at the lowest cost consistent with sound indemnity. It is upon this basis that he gets and holds clients.

- 1 Convenience—An electric water heater starts and stops itself. A tank full of hot water is always on tap. The range, too, is automatic. Time clock and thermostat watch the oven for you.
- 2 Cleanliness—When electricity comes into the kitchen smoke, soot, grime, and ash go out forever. This means a real saving in cleaning and redecorating.
- 3 $20 Down—This small payment will install both an electric range and water heater in your home. $10 will install either one of these modern appliances.
- 4 3 Years To Pay—Range and Water heater... or 30 months for a water heater and 24 months for a range. This will lower the cost to a few cents a day.
- 5 Economical Operation—Anyone who installs either or both of these appliances has an opportunity to purchase all his electricity at the lowest rate available thus lowering the electric rate.

By chance the other day I met Neva Waters, the Ford saleswoman, in our neighborhood, and to hear him he has the best car on the market for the money. I don't doubt that at all; but where is that money coming from?—Buz Bee.

Mrs. Dora Burken's article on tobacco was thrilling! Yes we want the Government to grade our tobacco and make an advance. If the buyer refuse to take it at graded price, then put tobacco in hogsheds and place in storage as surplus. According to history, the American tobacco combine will boycott us; every body, even to the merchants, doctors, and county officials would profit thereby. But alas! most of the growers will positively stay out! unwilling to help innocent women and children! Now every thing is getting worse and worse!

Get your guns and kill all the cats, they sleep all day and rob bird nests all night, even catch quail on her nest, kill young squirrels. We feed the birds.

Dr. B. F. Berry, Murray dentist, is the owner of a rare and highly valuable copy of DeMontesque's "The Spirit of the Law". The book was printed in 1750.

Doctor Berry discovered the book in a second-hand book shop in St. Louis a number of years ago.

The typography of the book is typical of that period. The "a's" always look like a "t" and one has to read for a while to distinguish between the two letters at sight.

The volume is somewhat worn but is still in fair condition for a book of that age.

RIGHTON GIRL HONORED

Mrs. Dan Spikes and daughter, Dorothy, have returned from Memphis where Dorothy played viola in the All-Southern High School Orchestra. This orchestra was made up of the outstanding students from some of the best high schools of the South. There were 120 in all.

Righton was the only small town represented, the other students coming from high schools in which music had been included in the curriculum for many years.

The orchestra was conducted by Mr. Joseph Maddy, eminent conductor from the University of Michigan. Other prominent musicians were at the conference. The orchestra broadcasted from 4 to 5 over WMC Friday afternoon, and the conference closed with a concert at Ellis Auditorium Friday night by the orchestra and All-Southern High School Chorus.

A capacity crowd heard the concert. The last social function was a dance after the concert at the Hotel Peabody—Righton, (Miss.) Dispatch.

Definite indications are that more home dressmaking is going on. More women are sewing. While times are hard women do not hire some one away to do their sewing. They buy yardage, make over and make new garments and save.

Our piece goods department is very complete. Our women reach for the thimble instead of a smoke.

We have ready-made dresses for those who cannot sew or have to have in a hurry for special occasions.

Pre-Revolutionary Gold Dollar, Half of 1795 Among Old Coins Reported to Office

The Ledger & Times still continues to obtain keenly interesting reports of old coins. This week brought forth some extremely unusual. C. E. Clark, Kirksey, has a Carolina gold dollar of the pre-Revolutionary era. It is mounted on a stick pin so that the date can not be seen but it was minted during the administration of A. Bechtler, as governor of the Carolina. It is 21-carat and contains 27 grains of pure gold.
The coin has been in the same family more than 200 years, according to Mr. Clark. It was given to him by his wife before her death. Mr. Clark said that he had been offered $65 for the dollar.
If some history shark will give the dates of the administration of Governor Bechtler, the date of the coin can be closely approximated.
Nat Ryan, sr., of Murray, steps in the lead for the oldest dollar with one minted in 1795. This date is just a few years after the United States began coinage.
J. C. Spann, Farmington Route 1, has a half dollar of 1812. Not only is it valued by Mr. Spann on account of its age but also because it is the first coin that ever came into his possession. Mr. Spann, who is 65 years old, found the coin in an old house when he was a lad of 7. His father urged him to keep it, and he has ever since, a period of 58 years.
J. D. Sexton has a $10 Confederate bill printed while the Confederate capital was at Richmond, dated Sept. 2, 1861. These bills are much rarer than those printed while the capital was in Montgomery, Alabama. The bill is the property of Mr. Sexton's father, the late J. M. Sexton, a Confederate veteran.
Alston Wilkerson, three miles east of Murray, has an old quarter dollar of 1864. Wilkerson found the coin only a few weeks ago.
